Finding a College I Belong to "The Future Center helped me find a college I belonged to. I went to UW Green Bay with Mr. Gordy and really found a place I wanted to be. I never thought I would be moving across the state."

La Crosse Promise Welcomes New Board Leadership

Amy Noel and Juan Jimenez take over as President and Vice President

La Crosse Promise elected new leadership at its most recent board meeting, bringing in Amy Noel of the Mayo Clinic Health System as President of the Board and Juan Jimenez of Western Technical College as Vice President.

"La Crosse Promise has experienced a lot of success in the past couple of years. This success drives us to do more. Our approach is very innovatively focused on education that then has an impact on economic growth," said Noel. "I am very honored and humbled to be leading the La Crosse Promise in partnership with our Executive Director, Brian Liesinger and the La Crosse Promise Board of Directors. We have more work to do in the La Crosse community."

Noel has served on the Board of Directors for La Crosse Promise since 2012 and was the chairperson of the governance committee. She is the Vice President of Surgical and Hospital/ Emergency/ Diagnostic divisions with the Mayo Clinic Health System, with an extensive nursing background.

Jimenez has served on the La Crosse Promise Board of Directors since 2018 and is a member of the governance committee as well. He is the Associate Dean of General Studies at Western Technical College with a deep commitment to education.

"I am extremely humbled to be elected Vice President of the La Crosse Promise Board. Those who have served on this board since its inception have always had an intense focus on education, especially public education, and supporting a diverse community," Jimenez said. "This is a perfect match with my own values and beliefs. I look forward to continuing our work in supporting education and the La Crosse community."

The leadership change comes after extensive service by previous Board President Margaret Dihlmann-Malzer and Vice President Denise Vujnovich, who have provided more than two years of stalwart service in their roles during a time of rapid growth for the Promise.
